

Public Notice:

The National Board of Trial Advocacy (NBTA) has submitted an application for accreditation in the specialty field of Truck Accident Law. The NBTA has received accreditation from the American Bar Association. The definition of Truck Accident Law proposed by the NBTA is as follows:

Truck Accident Law deals with the procedural, substantive and practical issues unique to collision cases involving commercial tractor-trailers, buses, and other commercial motor vehicle and all of the people and entities in the transportation cycle.

The NBTA's application for accreditation in the field of Truck Accident Law is available for inspection at the Minnesota State Board of Legal Certification's office. If you would like to review the application or submit comments regarding the application or this proposed definition, please contact the Minnesota State Board of Legal Certification by September 17, 2019.
